

DISPATCH FROM HONDURAS TELLS OF CONDITIONS

Brought by Courier 400 Miles Thru Dangerous Route

NEW YORK, March 21.—The following dispatch from the civil war zone in Honduras was sent overland by courier from the Associated Press correspondent at Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, and is the first detailed information of the grave condition there, other than official advice to Washington.

American marines have been landed since the dispatch was sent and are now at Tegucigalpa.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, March 1.—(AP by Courier).—Honduras is in a state of anarchy. It is not sure if special messenger will travel over 400 miles on mule back thru mountains and valleys full of revolutionists, or government troops, or Indians who will kill the bearer if they find him with this dispatch.

Civil war has taken possession of Honduras and already caused the loss of over 1500 lives—and it is just beginning.

Notwithstanding statements by the Washington government that Uncle Sam would not permit further revolution in Central America, notwithstanding treaties signed at Washington in February 27 and on board the U. S. ship Tacoma between the presidents of Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua and the three American ministers to these countries; Honduras has been in civil war since early in February.

The dispatch describes at length the struggle for the presidency between three candidates, Dr. Bonilla, Dr. Arias and General Carías, first in an election campaign and later before congress.

General Carías left the capital January 30, with 300 armed men and took to the mountains to start the revolution. The diplomatic corps headed by the British charge d'affaires, Mr. George Lyall on February 1st, visited the president's camp. He said that in the event of peace it would be desirable that the presidential election be concluded soon, as several deputies of the Carías party had left the capital with their chief and were in the mountains preparing for war. A quorum could be gathered at congress adjourned on January 22, without having elected a president.

The dictatorship now began. The outgoing president, General Gutierrez, suspended the constitution and became dictator. The American legation made public cables from Washington saying the American government would recognize the dictatorship conditionally and this strengthened his position.

War broke out on February 17 when Colonel Andary of the Carías party, captured the city of Situtepaque, 85 miles west of Tegucigalpa. At the time attacks were made on other cities, resulting in many casualties. But the revolutionists took only Marcala and La Paz.

New Cabinet.

The government appointed a new cabinet, formed exclusively from the Bonilla party which remained in power only four days.

Dr. Bonilla told his leaders to keep aloof from the dictatorship government. All agreed except General Ferrera.

General Ferrera attacked and took five important cities of the west section. In his proclamation he did not say for whom he fought. He simply said he was in arms against the dictatorship.

General Carías with an army of about 2,000 proclaimed himself president at Lamón, Feb. 9, six miles from Tegucigalpa.

The American minister sought to adjust relations between Carías and the existing government but the latter refused to follow his advice.

General Carías was reported the next day as marching on the capital. The government, alarmed, took the necessary measure.

FARMER LEGISLATION URGED BEFORE CLOSE OF PRESENT SESSION

President Coolidge States Wants Before Conference

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Coolidge at a conference tonight with Republican house leaders expressed the desire to have some form of farm relief legislation enacted before the close of the present session of congress.

The legislative situation generally was discussed and Mr. Coolidge's callers said they were convinced that congress could adjourn before the June conventions. The president was told that the house would rush action on appropriation bills, dispose of the Johnson immigration bill and take up a measure providing for a readjustment of salaries of postal employees.

The discussion was at a white house dinner conference arranged to consider the possibility of speeding up the legislative program in the house.

Asked whether any indication had been given by the president as to whether he would approve the tax or bonus bills if they were sent to him substantially as passed by the house Mr. Longworth said that Mr. Coolidge had given no inkling of his views.

As to salary relief for postal employees the belief was expressed by the house leaders that the Kelly-Edge bill, on which joint congressional hearings are now being held, would entail too great a drain on the treasury.

The congressional delegation was informed that Postmaster General New was working out a scale of salaries which probably would be ready for submission to congress within ten days.

The postal pay increase bill in its present form would involve an additional annual expenditure of the postal service of nearly $160,000,000. President Coolidge has indicated his opposition to any expenditure that would require increases in either the first or second class postal rates or in parcel post charges.

The immediate legislative program for the house as outlined tonight to Mr. Coolidge, comprises disposition of the most heavily contested appropriation bills—the navy, army and independent offices measures—immigration legislation a resolution for a child labor amendment and then the other appropriation bills.

MERCY OWEN DENIES CHARGES BROUGHT UP BY BRICE ARMSTRONG

ays None of Agents Received Suggestions from Galpin

CHICAGO, March 21.—Major Mercy Owen, prohibition director of Illinois in a formal statement tonight denied all charge made against him or his agents by Brice Armstrong, federal prohibition agent whose home was bombed Sunday. Armstrong has been summoned to Washington to confer with prohibition authorities who he had charged that prohibition agents had attempted to remove him when they and that he could not be controlled. He also charged that prohibition agents here were influenced by Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Cook county Republican committee.

Major Owen in his statement said he had sent a questionnaire to each of his 70 agents, and found that no agent had received suggestion or request from Mr. Galpin and only two or three knew him by sight.

RECEIVERS APPOINTED FOR TEAPOT DOME

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 21. (AP).—Read-Admiral J. Strauss and Albert E. Watts, the latter, vice-president of the Sinclair consolidated oil company late this afternoon qualified as joint receivers of the Sinclair Oil interests in the Teapot Dome naval reserve district. Both of the receivers filed bonds of $50,000. The receivers were appointed by Judge T. Blake Kennedy of the Cheyenne district court on March 13, when the special government counsel instituted proceedings in the federal court to set aside the lease granted on Teapot Dome by former Secretary A. B. Fall.

Under the orders of Judge Kennedy this afternoon the receivers are to operate all of the oil wells now operating in Teapot Dome; no new wells must be drilled in the district except those that are absolutely necessary as offset wells.

COOLIDGE INCREASES NORTH DAKOTA LEAD

FARGO, N. D., March 21.—Returns from 1934 precincts out of 1,478 in North Dakota for Republican presidential choice gave: Coolidge—50,539. LaFollette—37,052. Johnson—37,024.

COOLIDGE WANTS PROMPT ACTION ON TAX MEASURE

Now Refuses to Say Whether He Will Veto Measure

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Coolidge today urged congressional leaders to speed up consideration of the revenue bill which was introduced by Chairman Smoot and Senator Curtis, Republican, Kansas, of the finance committee that its passage before June first, now seemed unlikely.

Altho the soldier bonus bill was not discussed at the White House conference, Mr. Smoot said it was probable this measure would be given priority over the tax reduction bill by the committee for immediate action and predicted that Little time would be required for its disposal in committee.

In this connection, however, it was again made plain at the white house that President Coolidge opposes a soldier bonus and supports the Mellon income tax rates rejected by the house.

Regarding the paid-up insurance bonus bill passed by the house and the revised revenue measure sent by that body to the senate, it was reiterated at the same time that the president would not declare in advance of receiving either measure whether he will veto or sign it.

The tax rate schedules were not discussed at either conference it was said.

Outside of the committee meeting, its members today took occasion to place on each other the responsibility for delay in work on the revenue bill.

Chairman Smoot declared "extensive talk" for reasons best known to the speakers has been indulged in the committee meetings with the result we have not yet taken up a major section of the bill.

He again threatened night sessions for next week if the work was not "speeded up."

Democratic leaders generally indicated today they would seek to have the tax bill kept to the front in committee.

With all of the rate schedules yet to be considered Mr. Smoot said it was likely that at least three more weeks would be spent by the committee on the tax bill alone.

Little time would be required to dispose of the bonus measure Mr. Smoot thought.

EASTERN SCHOOLS ARE PLAYED BY STAGG

NEW YORK, March 21.—Amos Alonzo Stagg, football coach of the University of Chicago, denounced the athletic policies of eastern universities including Harvard, Yale and Princeton, in an address tonight at the annual dinner of the New York association of Western Conference Universities.

Alluding to the "mossback east" as a "doddering old fogey, concerned entirely with funds and more funds," Mr. Stagg declared that the spirit of western universities, "must cleave thru the depressive clutches of Harvard, Yale and Princeton as the sun cleaves thru fog."

Stagg is a Yale alumnus having graduated in 1888.

Glenn Frank, editor of the Century Magazine, and a graduate of Northwestern university, presided. George Hays, of Purdue, was elected president of the New York association. F. D. Nicholas, of the University of Chicago, second vice president and Arlo Wilson, of the University of Iowa, secretary-treasurer.

PLEDGES RELIEF WHEREVER NEEDED

WASHINGTON, March 21 (A. P.).—Promise was made by President Coolidge today in acknowledging the result of the North Dakota presidential primary "to advocate legislation, use all the administrative forces of the government and organize private enterprise to give sound economic relief where it is needed."

The president acknowledged by telegram a message received from L. B. Hanna of Fargo, former governor of North Dakota and manager of the Coolidge campaign in that state announcing the result of the North Dakota primary in which the president was voted the preference of the state for the Republican presidential nomination.

APPEAL FROM J. P. FILED

A case in which C. J. Vaughn brought suit against J. G. Engle for $68.84 damages to his automobile and which was recently heard in the court of Justice A. B. Oberman was appealed to the circuit court yesterday. Damage sought by the plaintiff was awarded to him in the full amount. An appeal was taken and the transcript filed in the office of Circuit Clerk F. E. Wanamaker.

House Proposes Two More Investigations

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Another congressional investigation aimed at prohibition enforcement was proposed today in the house which has two inquiries under way and is expected shortly to authorize two more.

Representative Kindred, Democrat, New York called for the appointment of a special committee to look into the administration of the prohibition bureau in a resolution in which he declared that the great majority of American citizens believe allegations that there is corruption "on the part of certain officials" in the bureau.

The resolution was referred to the rules committee which earlier in the day had recommended an investigation of charges that a huge quantity of government bonds had been duplicated by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Chairman Snell was instructed to bring up in the house at an early date the resolution, offered by Representative King, Republican, Illinois, for the Bureau of Engraving inquiry. He also has been directed to bring to a vote a resolution by Representative Nelson, Republican, Insurg-

AL JENNINGS ON WAY TO WASHINGTON WITH BIG STORY OF GRAFT

Claims Harding Nomination Was Bought With $1,000,000

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 21.—Al Jennings, former train robber and of late politician and evangelist, who departed last night to testify before the senate oil investigation commission led behind him a statement published today in which he said he planned to "rock the country with the story of a $1,000,000 payment that bought the nomination of the late President Harding as the Republican candidate in 1920."

Jennings, who said he was a close friend of the late Jake Hamon, Republican leader in Oklahoma, said he would unfold to the committee the details of Hamon's negotiations to swing the 1920 presidential nomination and "what Hamon expected to get out of it."

He declared that the deal was engineered by one of the national Republican leaders who is an "ex-senator and an easterner."

The $1,000,000, Jennings stated, came from oil interests but from whom oil interests he refused to divulge until he appeared before the senate investigators.

Jennings left here last night for Los Angeles and planned to continue his journey to Washington Saturday.

BUSINESS MEETING OF TEACHERS TODAY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 21.—Members of the South Central division of the Illinois Teachers' association after listening to a day and night of oratory tomorrow will hold a business session and elect officers for the ensuing year and adjourn.

Tonight William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state and Simeon D. Fess, Senator from Ohio, addressed the teachers. This morning Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, Canada, spoke and this afternoon Baron E. Cartier de Marchienne, ambassador from Belgium spoke to the teachers.

Twenty five hundred teachers are attending the two day session.

BARNEY BERNARD SUCCESSFUL IN PNEUMONIA

New York, March 21.—Barney Bernard, famous comedian and well known as creator of "Abe Potash" in "Potash and Perlmutter," died tonight of pneumonia.

The Day in Washington

Irwin B. Laughlin of Pittsburgh was nominated to be minister to Greece.

The state department was informed that comparatively order had been restored at Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

President Coolidge discussed the legislative situation at a white house dinner conference with house Republican leaders.

Members of the senate finance committee discussed revenue legislation with President Coolidge without conclusions being reached.

Counsel for Harry W. Sinclair and the oil committee argued without result whether Sinclair should be excused from further examination.

The house adopted an amendment to the naval appropriation bill which would request the president to initiate a move for further naval limitation conference.

Acknowledging the result of the North Dakota presidential primary, President Coolidge promised to do his utmost to give sound economic relief where it is needed.

The Daugherty committee went into a mass of charges having to do with illicit liquor withdrawals in 1921 and payments and "spills" alleged to have been made.

Chairman Hall of the interstate commerce commission wrote to congress on the question of unnecessary conflict with usages of inland transportation in enforcing Section 23 of the merchant marine act.

The house rules committee recommended an investigation of charges of duplications in government bonds while an investigation of prohibition enforcement was proposed in a resolution by Representative Kindred, Democrat, New York.

ACCUSATIONS OF FRAUD MADE IN TAX REFUND ROW

Witness Claims Big-gier Companies Given Advantage

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP).—Sweeping but unspecified charges of graft in the internal revenue bureau by former employees before the senate investigating committee vied for attention today with allegations on the senate floor of "unfair" methods of making tax refunds, the names of "Mellon companies" coming in for particular attention in both places.

The committee witnesses had been dismissed from the bureau the testimony disclosed. One of them, J. P. Adams of Washington declared that "there are some of the worst cases being put thru in that department" (the bureau) I ever heard of.

Pressed by Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, committee chairman to say whether he had personal knowledge of any specific case of graft by bureau officials, Adams answered that he had not, adding:

"But if you will take my evidence there is no doubt under the sun."

"Guess Work Used"

Senator King, Democrat, Utah, a member of the investigating committee brought the tax refund question upon in the senate by attacking an item of $105,000,000 for tax refunds submitted by a deficiency bill pending in the senate, on the ground that the finance committee had been advised that only $25,000,000 in pending refund claims had been decided. Senator King said that the hundred million dollar item was just "a guess as to probable refunds."

His motion to cut the item to $30,000,000 was defeated without a division.

Before the investigating committee, Adams named companies which he said had been involved in amortization allowances disputes with the bureau, adding that investigation would show that those had been solved to the advantage of the companies as compared with treatment given "ordinary companies" like the "Ford company."

Among the companies he named the Standard Steel company the aluminum company of America, the United States Steel corporation the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, and the Great Lakes Shipping company.

Adams urged that the committee undertake a comparative examination of amortization allowances to these concerns.

"And if you don't wake up I'm a liar," he said.

J. P. Moore a former associate of Adams as a bureau engineer on field work, described the cases of the Borwin-Whit Coal company of Philadelphia and the E. H. Smith company of Pittsburgh, a dental supply house. Original claims of allowances by these companies had been disapproved by the field engineers but later reannounced for more liberal treatment by other engineers. He testified, stating that in the Smith company case the reassignment followed a letter to Secretary Mellon from the company.

In the senate, Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, asked Senator King to committee attention to the list of tax refund for 1921 and 1922 he had previously placed in the record. He said it was "alarming" that as much as $23,000,000 should be required to be returned to a single taxpayer.

The committee had heard of three, four and even nine millions being refunded," Senator King said. "The Gulf Refining company in which Secretary Mellon is heavily interested received a refund of $3,500,000," Senator McKellar said.

Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, repudiated any insinuations made against those receiving tax refunds. He said that 1917 refunds had been less than one percent of collections.

The committee also heard today A. J. Bradley, a bureau auditor who declared that while he was not afraid to testify, he "might lose my job" if he brought out matters detrimental to his chiefs. Bradley was finally pinned down by Senator Watson to a statement that his immediate chief had "suggested" the necessity of guarding his statements but the witness could not quote what had been said to give him that impression.

The hearing went over until Monday.

STOCK BROKERS ARE ACCUSED OF SELLING RECORDS NOW WANTED

Charlie Chaplin One of Customers of Bankrupt Firm

NEW YORK, March 21.—A report from Chicago that many records of E. W. Wagner & Co., stock brokers, who failed for $12,000,000 on December 31, 1921, had been sold to a junk dealer there, was received tonight by District Attorney Banton and Federal Attorney Hayward.

The "long and short" records reported sold were said to be wanted here in connection with an investigation being conducted by the two attorneys.

Action on about twenty complaints for alleged trading against customers' accounts now is pending for the grand jury.

The E. W. Wagner Co., was one of the most prominent commission houses in New York's financial district.

It was expelled from the New York Stock Exchange after the failure had been announced. Branches were operated in Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Omaha and other cities. It was reported that its most extensive operations were in Chicago where it dealt in grain options. It was estimated at one time that it had 13,000 creditors in New York and Chicago alone.

Charlie Chaplin, motion picture comedian, had a credit balance of approximately $100,000 with the firm when it was forced into bankruptcy and accounts of Armory & Company were said to have been handled thru its offices.

In 1922 creditors having claims of $6,800,000 voted to accept an offer of settlement which provided for 50 per cent in cash and 50 per cent in notes on a new Wagner corporation to be formed. Federal Judge Augustus N. Hand confirmed the plan.

LOCAL MEN BACK FROM BLOOMINGTON MEETING

Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce who attended the state conference in Bloomington Thursday, have returned home much pleased with what they saw and heard. The noon luncheon Thursday was held in the Consistory Temple, and was attended by over eight hundred visitors and Bloomington business men.

Harry W. Wheeler, former food administrator for Illinois during the war, and a well known Chicago banker was the principal speaker. During the conference, railroad officials and leading business men of the state discussed various important problems of business and industrial development in the cities and towns of Illinois.

BURLINGTON HAWKEYE CHIEF EDITOR DEAD

Burlington, Iowa, March 21.—John L. Waite, editor in chief of the Burlington Hawkeye died this afternoon at the age of 83 years.

Mr. Waite was one of the best known newspapermen in Iowa. He became identified with the Hawkeye in 1867 and with the exception of three years has been continuously with that newspaper.

TREASURY TELLS WHY TWO DIFFERENT SETS OF FIGURES OFFERED

Trying to Arrive at Probable Correct Amount Needed

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP).—The treasury replied tonight to Democratic leaders in congress who had criticized its use of two sets of estimates of probable government receipts by saying it had had "no ulterior purposes other than an effort to arrive at the probable correct figures."

The treasury's statement said at the outset that it was made because of the Democratic criticism of the estimates.

"In order to have the benefit of independent judgment upon the principal items of receipts," the statement said, "the treasury had adopted the practice of requiring independent figures from the government's treasury on customs, income, and profits taxes and miscellaneous internal revenue, and estimated a customs total for the first of customs, and as to income and profits tax, and miscellaneous internal revenue, from the commissioner of internal revenue."

The under-secretary thereupon called a conference of those who made the estimates and after considerable discussion the treasury's figures for customs for 1924 of $540,000,000 were raised to the director of customs' figures of $570,000,000. The treasury's figures for customs in 1925 were accepted in place of the director of customs' estimate because the treasury had had more experience in determining probable future conditions through the world which would affect customs receipts and he felt strongly that the high level of customs receipts would not continue.

"In the estimate that customs receipts would drop off the treasury is apparently justified, since in the first six months of the fiscal year 1924 customs receipts were some $21,000,000 in excess of the corresponding six months of the previous year. They are now only some $10,000,000 in excess, showing a decrease in receipts for the 1-2-3 months since January 1, 1924 of about $11,000,000. It seems likely that the estimate of $570,000,000 for the fiscal year 1924 will not be exceeded and may not be reached. No reason has been shown to change the estimate for 1925."

BRYAN WOULD CANCEL EUROPEAN DEBTS IF NATIONS ALL DISARM

Tells Teachers America Would Save Money in Long Run

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 21.—"The nations of the world owe nearly twelve billions of dollars. I would like to see our student backed by congress send a commission to every nation and if them that as soon as the disarm we will tear up the paper on which the debt is written."

These words delivered tonight at the South Central Branch of the Illinois State Teachers' association by William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state brought his teachers to their feet as they applauded the speaker.

Continuing, Mr. Bryan said: "But tell them that we will not do it until they disarm. Along with this nation stands as a Shylock, waiting for its money. They'll use our attitude to create a condition that will prevent permanent peace."

"We will spend many times more than twelve billions of dollars preparing for wars that should never take place. Why should we not spend it for peace?"

United States Senator Stephen D. Fess, of Ohio in discussing the relationship of America with European nations declared that we could not criticize either France or Great Britain for their attitude regarding the Ruhr situation. The speaker declared France should not be denounced for its stand because it has lived in fear of invasions from the west and that Great Britain was fighting for its economic life and could not be criticized.

At the morning session of the teachers, Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, Canada, was the speaker and in the afternoon Baron E. Cartier de Marchienne addressed the educators.

Twenty-five hundred members of the association will close their two day session tomorrow with the election of officers.

CHAPMAN TO SPEAK

Dr. Arthur S. Chapman, superintendent of Jacksonville M. E. district, will deliver a stereotypical lecture at 7 o'clock Sunday evening at the Alexander M. E. church.

The boys of the Alexander M. E. Sunday school, taught by Mrs. John Morgan, entertained the remaining classes of the school with a party at the church last night. There was a good attendance and games and refreshments were enjoyed.

HARRY SINCLAIR TRIES TO DODGE WITNESS STAND

Will Hays Will Also Be Called to Stand by Committee

WASHINGTON, March 21.—As Harry F. Sinclair, thru his counsel was waging an apparently losing battle to keep off the oil committee witness stand today Will H. Hays, former postmaster general, arrived here to be questioned about a story that Sinclair donated a large batch of securities to wipe out the $1,600,000 deficit of the Republican national committee after the 1920 campaign.

The oil lawyer said he had donated securities to the committee to help it pay its bills. He said he had not taken the stand. After he leaves the witness chair the committee will call Hays.

After his arrival here Hays remained in seclusion. His Chairman Adams of the Republican national committee, declared there had been no contribution of oil stock in wiping out the deficit.

"The story that 75,000 shares of oil stock were used to pay off the deficit of the Republican national committee is of course ridiculous," Mr. Adams said. "About 10,000 or more contributors from every state in the union made up the amount."

It took three long years of strenuous work by our financial organization to wipe out this indebtedness and there was no contribution of oil stock or easy money of any kind."

To Hear Al Jennings

To the amazing story about oil stock testimony another has been added by Al Jennings, former oil lobbyist, but now an evangelist and politician, who was subpoenaed in connection with the kossip of oil deals at the Republican national convention at Chicago, in 1920.

Former Representative Martin W. Littleton of New York, appearing before the oil committee as counsel for Sinclair challenged the right of congress to subpoena any person for examination on any subject.

An inquiry by Senator Walsh of Montana, as to what harm could come to Sinclair by testifying again if he had a just cause, aroused Mr. Littleton. There was a sharp exchange between the attorney and the committee "prosecutor," and Mr. Littleton practically accused the committee of attempting to drive his client into a position where he would have to assume the "odious" of refusing to answer, as did Albert B. Fall, on the ground that it might tend to incriminate him.

In their discussion committee members indicated that there would be no disposition to press Sinclair upon questions which might injure him in any subsequent litigation.

Dill's Statement

After the committee session, Senator Dill said:

"It is significant, that just when Mr. Sinclair is to be asked questions relating to this campaign fund, the great New York lawyer appears and contends that these committees (of congress) have no right to subpoena anybody."

"It is an interesting fact that in the estimation of the editors of the big newspapers of the eastern cities, the argument that these investigations become nauseating that they were products of hysteria, began the day the committee on public lands and surveys exposed the white house telegrams. Since then we have been told by these editors thru their newspapers that the country is tired of this. Senators have been called all objectionable names but can be applied."

"And now when not able to stop the men on these committees from pursuing the investigations they send the most brilliant lawyer probably at the New York bar to challenge a right congress has had and exercised ever since the government began, namely to call witnesses before the committees of congress investigating the facts, the effort being to stop us from asking the questions which may bring forth the truth which they do not want the country to know."

Mr. Littleton told the committee that his client had been sent into the courts by the government and was ready to fight the matter out there "toe to toe."

"It is a monstrous proposition," he shouted, after asserting that the committee was trying to force Sinclair to the odium of making a statement "that he is afraid of being incriminated."

"You propose to drive him to that humiliation," he declared. "It is an outrage, a reversal of all the traditions of the law."

A THOUGHT

He that rebuketh a man, afterward shall find more favor than he that flattereth with the tongue.
 —Prov. 28:23.

Nothing is so near an instance of ill manners as flattery.

It is of course not a matter of great news, but four more investigations were started in Washington yesterday.

President Coolidge made it known yesterday that he favors some form of relief for farmers. The president did not go into detail, but it is safe to predict that any form of relief he suggests will be sound.

Meanwhile the various committees appointed should not forget that the city election comes early in April. For a thorough understanding of the bond issue proposal there must be a considerable amount of publicity. The people will be in favor of the development of their water plant if they understand the needs and the situation.

GOOD ROADS

The Bureau of Public Roads at Washington is going to make hay while the sun shines. When the sun of summer heats down the road, the bureau will be studying the problems of snow removal next winter and the bureau will make suggestions to the various states.

The snow clearing problems of states east of the Mississippi river this past winter entailed work on 16,000 miles of main trunk line highways as against 13,000 miles last winter. This is about 30 percent of the surface mileage of the states where snow is a problem. The mileage in the states west of the Mississippi river where traffic is not to become blocked by heavy snowfalls is not so great, yet it presents a problem which gives the whole situation a national aspect.

The bureau thinks that state control of snow removal on main trunk highway lines is desirable, so it seems to be directly in line with co-ordination of activities, which seems to be the modern trend.

SOUTH AMERICAN IMMIGRATION

Mass immigration to South America by continental Europe is urged in a rather remarkable book just published by Dr. Helmer Key, editor of the Svenska Dagbladet, one of the leading newspapers of Sweden.

According to Dr. Key Europe is bankrupt. She can no longer find a market in trade among her own nations. New markets must be found and exploited if success is to be achieved. England is well taken care of in this respect, the writer points out, in that she has vast colonial possessions which can be themselves offer her a big market. For the other nations of Europe there is not hope except in the cultivation of foreign markets and the suggestion is that they turn their attention toward South America.

The American people are not likely to oppose this commercial invasion of South America, as Dr. Key explains unless the European invasion sets in it is only a question of time when the Japanese will control the South American market and wield a powerful influence there. North Americans would rather see Europeans in control than Orientals.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR EB SPINK

Services Were Held at the Family Residence in Charge of Rev. Stickney—Interment in Diamond Grove Cemetery

Funeral services in memory of the late Eb Spink were held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the family residence, 1004 West Lafayette avenue. The services were in charge of Rev. George E. Stickney, pastor of the Congregational church and was assisted by Dr. R. O. Post, a former pastor of the church of which Mr. Spink was a member. Mrs. A. R. Grogg sang beautifully, "O Love Divine" and "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

Rev. Stickney gave emphasis to the usefulness of the life of Mr. Spink. He said his neighbors knew him for his kindly acts, that his family knew him for his keen enjoyment of home and that his fellow citizens knew his interest in all enterprises for the welfare of the community. Rev. Stickney stated that in Mr. Spink's association in the church, Sunday school and brotherhood his sterling Christian character, wherever he was active, his influence counted for the good in the church work. The many beautiful flowers were cared for by Mrs. Knapp, Mrs. James Merrill and Miss Georgia Fairbank.

The pall bearers were E. E. Crabtree, T. A. Chapin, Nelson McCrabtree, Dr. W. P. Duncan, Barr Brown, Charles Hager and C. P. Thompson. Interment was in Diamond Grove cemetery.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION SENT CONGRESSMAN YATES

Congressman Richard Yates some time since received application to present the pension claim of the late Aaron W. Petefish of Liberty. The application was made promptly through the office of Congressman Yates, but was allowed very shortly after the death of Mr. Petefish.

Congressman Yates has long been a friend of the Petefish family and while it was a matter of sincere regret to him that the pension was received too late, it was gratifying to realize that his office had not lost a minute in presenting the claim.

The congressman is deeply appreciative of the following letter received from Miss Petefish:

Literberry, Ill.
 March 10, 1924.
 Hon. Richard Yates,
 Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:
 We gratefully acknowledge and thank you for your interest and efforts in father's behalf. Your telegram stating that his pension claim had been granted was received a few hours after he had passed away. He appreciated what you did for him and your kind letter gave him much pleasure. He has always been your admirer and staunch supporter, and his children desire to continue the friendship which has lasted so long between you.

We all knew from the beginning that this was a fatal illness but he met the end like the brave soldier that he always was in life. Thanking you again, I am, yours sincerely,
 Lora D. Petefish.

To BLOSSOMS

Fair pledges of a fruitful tree,
 Why do ye fall so fast?
 Your date is not so past
 But you may stay yet here a while
 To blush and gently smile,
 And go at last.

What! were ye born to be
 An hour or half's delight
 And so to bid goodnight?
 'Tis pity Nature brought ye forth
 Merely to show your worth
 And lose you quite.

But you are lovely leaves, where we
 May read how soon things have
 Their end, though ne'er so brave;
 And after they have shown their pride
 Like you a while, they glide
 Into the grave.

—Robert Herrick.

WE ARE BECOMING A GYPSY RACE

BY ALBERT APPLE

How many different towns have you lived in? How many times have you moved from one house to another? How many miles have you traveled since birth? Most of us find that, as the years slip by, we travel more, move oftener and change jobs more frequently.

One day the days when son followed in father's footsteps generation after generation, living in the same town, the same old family homestead, generally the same line of work as parent.

There are many indications that we are becoming a race of gypsies—nomads, a people of not building for permanence, but of better transportation facilities, especially the auto.

Twenty years ago, a man or woman taking a trip of 1000 miles was the talk of the town. Today one attracts more attention if he takes an occasional long trip than if he does. People leave their homes to house, city to city, job to job, farm to farm.

Covered wagon days are returning—nearly everyone a pioneer, yearning to be somewhere else, doing something different.

One symptom of our Gypsy tendency is the increasing custom of not building for permanence. Houses used to be built to last forever, if possible. Now they're thrown together. Owners don't care. Most of them expect to move in a few years.

Same with auto ownership. The buyer, when he buys, already is looking ahead to the date when he'll trade in the old car on a new one.

E. W. Forbes, head of the Fogg Art Museum of Harvard, warns that the paintings of some of our modern artists may not last more than 50 years because of the use of inferior canvas or paints. Excellent materials are on the market for the artist, but often he is careless in buying and using. Bad paint, improperly varnished, may fade to a blur instead of lasting centuries like the masterpieces of the old-time painters.

All this is typical of our generation's attitude. "Today's the thing. Let tomorrow take care of itself."

Two definite reasons why we are becoming Gypsy rovers and do not build for permanence. First, we realize more than ever before that life is merely a journey, a training school or gymnasium for self-improvement.

We view life as a Pullman car—and are quite willing to leave peanut hulls and banana peels behind us.

Then, too, we build only for permanence in big projects like the Panama canal, because we are busy creating new ideas, processes and devices—and willing to replace repeatedly the material things expressing these ideas—processes and devices. Former generations, for instance, were content to use a horse and buggy and make them last as long as possible. We conceive or build the IDEA of the automobile and the IDEA is permanent even if individual autos are not.

CHINESE
 There is nothing new under the sun. All ideas are old. The liquor problem agitates our generation. Many think we're the first. In the almost endless procession of drunken history to try prohibition.

But Confucius, in collecting the Shu Ching or fragments of ancient Oriental history, found that China had a Volstead 3,000 years ago. His name was Wou Wang. He ruled that liquor could be used only in religious ceremonies, and argued that the abuse of strong drink was the cause of national misfortunes and collapses of civilizations.

So the Chinese tried prohibition. Time passed. Today they have such liquor fines as rice wine and yellow lack brandy.

Current.
 We move into the electrical age rapidly. Our country in 1923 used nearly a fifth more electricity than the year before. A third of this was generated by "white coal"—water power.

Ahead lies the day when coal will be burned in the mines, converted into electrical power and sent forth over high-tension wires to an electrified America.

Here's a reason Frenchmen sometimes forget to be polite: Germany's revenue (taxation and so on) in 1923 was only half as much as in 1921, figured in terms of gold instead of deceptive paper marks. This is not French propaganda. The figures are the official German statistics compiled by Dr. Helfferich. "Capacity to pay" might be stimulated by higher taxation. It will be. Wait.

Over 500 million dollars worth of property destroyed by fire in the United States in one year, reports National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Lightning caused less than 12 million dollars loss. Most of the damage was by man-caused fires. At least half of these are preventable. Teach your children that the match is the most dangerous force enslaved by man. And be careful yourself.

Mortgaged.
 The national debt towered 21 billion dollars, will be wiped out in 11 years, according to present plans of the treasury.

The more interesting part of this scheme is the department's optimistic belief that we're going to get back what we loaned Europe during the war—about 11 billion dollars, including interest. The mortgage on Uncle Sam's homestead is terrifically large, but it's less than 10 per cent of the homestead's value.

Colds.
 A new poison gas developed by our army, cures colds. So claims Brig. Gen. A. A. Fries, head of the Chemical Warfare Service. He tried it on some congressmen with colds. They sat in a room inhaling the poison gas. All felt better. Some say they were cured.

Many experiments are necessary with this gas before there can be a safe verdict. But some say it will exterminate colds still surely come in time. Colds cause more misery than all other diseases combined. They are a pressing problem. Monkey glands, less important, can wait.

DR. HARKER MADE TRIP TO MINNESOTA

Visited Various College and Universities in Connection with Methodist Board of Education.

President Joseph R. Harker of the Woman's College returned Thursday from an interesting trip into Minnesota, where he visited several colleges and universities, in connection with the Methodist Board of Education. On his way north, he was the guest for a day of Dr. and Mrs. MacMurray, in Chicago.

Dr. Harker was accompanied by John L. Sexton, Secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist church; President Plantz of Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis., and President Mossman of Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa. The purpose of their trip was to hold a conference with the Directors of Parker College, of Winnebago, Minn., an interesting little school doing Academy work, but anxious to expand and do Junior College work. The Methodist Board committee conferred with about thirty business men of Winnebago in regard to the expansion, where the committee advised that the school not be undertaken without the guarantee of $10,000 a year additional for expenses and a quarter of a million endowment.

In St. Paul, they held a similar conference with President Kerfoot and the trustees of Hamline University, a rapidly growing school with an endowment of more than 500 students. It has a fairly good equipment and an exceptionally fine woman's dormitory. Hamline is greatly in need of additional buildings, and the committee suggested an advance program for the University that calls for a campaign to raise a million dollars for new buildings, $750,000 for instructional purposes, and a million dollars endowment fund for upkeep.

While in St. Paul, the committee visited the University of Minnesota.

RED CROSS NOTES

"There shall be no crippled children in this city," declared the Kiwanis Club of Alexandria, Va., and immediately voted $2,000 to carry forward the Red Cross for the aid of all crippled children in this Virginia city. The movement started when the local Red Cross and public health nurses urged the citizens of Alexandria to give thought to the crippled children. The local doctors expressed willingness to cooperate, but there was doubt if enough children could be found to make the work worth while.

In the course of their Public Nursing, the Red Cross nurses found more than 50 little cripples, and to the credit of the local doctors, the Kiwanis, and the Elks, the twisted limbs of these children have now all been straightened. Many of them are walking or running where a short year ago they were unable to move without the aid of crutches, if they moved at all.

Investigation showed there were many children who suffered from malnutrition which produced bone conditions resulting in twisted limbs. These conditions will all be remedied under the Kiwanis Club plan. The fund voted by this club will be used for special steel and leather braces and plaster casts necessary in individual treatment.

A Red Cross Life-Saving Institute with membership open to any member of the Red Cross is announced by the Life-Saving Service of the New England Division, to be held in Plymouth, Mass., June 17 to June 30. The cost of a week's course will only be $20, including living expenses. Mrs. James J. Storrs is again giving the Red Cross the use of her extensive camping site.

The list of Red Cross Life-Saving courses and their instructors, that will be available at the Institute, is as follows: Life-Saving, Robert A. Mott, New England Life-Saving Representative; Mrs. Helen Souder, Bethesda, Md.; Miss Sarah Souder, Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

RECALLS SNOW STORMS March 1876 and 1878. This storm calls to memory the snow storm of March 18, 1876.

It was accompanied by a gale from the northwest which piled it up in ill protected places. A very great contrast was the March of 1878. The peach trees were in full bloom the 20 of March that year. That was the March following a muddy winter. That winter 1877-1878 was the muddest and mildest winter on record.

Both wagon and railroad traffic were very much interfered with for a short time.

There hasn't been as severe a storm in the last half of March since until this. According to the old settlers of the time there never had been before. The snow was variously estimated at from 4 to 8 inches. But as we had no George Hall to settle the question it remains unsettled.

There was no freezing that winter, except the night before Thanksgiving. That was the winter of the great temperance revival "Murphy Move" as sometimes called. The Timmony boys, John and Ed held a great temperance meeting in Strawn's Opera House that winter. (Old Timer).

I. W. C. JUNIORS PLAN ACTIVITIES

The Junior Class of the Hillside Woman's College is taking a distinctive interest in the college, and their activities are attracting the attention of the entire student body.

The class, with Miss Pearce, Hasegata, president, and Miss Mary Anderson, class advisor, have been granted the permission they requested to remodel and improve the Social room of the college, and operations were commenced with the removal of the large platform that was built at the north end of the Social room. Their plans include additions to the furnishings of the room, for which they will buy several pieces of over-stuffed, new window drapes and easy chairs to take the place of the stationary chairs that are now in use in the room.

The Social room has always been one of the college's most attractive rooms, with its large stone mantle-piece, and its walls hung with the very lovely paintings of Miss Nellie Knopf, the new improvements will only add to its charm.

The fever for remodeling has spread throughout the student body, who are taking an active interest in furnishing cozy corners.

TIGERS WIN GAME BY SINGLE POINT

Indiana Has Edge Until Near Close of Tilt When Taylor Put Over Winning Basket—Deaf Band Makes First Public Appearance

In a game that was rather slow in the first half, but pretty enough in the final period the Illinois school for the deaf won from the Indiana school for the deaf on David Prince floor last night by a good crowd by a score of 12 to 11.

Miller led off soon after the whistle with a basket and Indiana followed with one soon after. Miller again registered bringing the local score up to 4 but Indiana tied it up a few plays later and just before the close of the first quarter Indiana tucked in another point by the free throw route, ending the period in their favor 5 to 4. Taylor was substituted for Krallman at center and directly after the opening of the second quarter he looped in one from a medium distance giving the locals a lead for a few minutes, only to see it lost when Indiana found the hoop from a short distance and before the period ended gaining one more counter on a free throw, ending the half 8 to 6, Indiana.

Indiana again came back with a short one in the start-off of the third quarter but Miller made it up by registering on both trials on free throws, Indiana then counted one more via the free route and the quarter closed with Indiana leading, 11 to 8.

When the teams took the floor for the final period the visitors were going good and for a time it looked like curtains for our local Tigers, but Sellers decided to get his name on the score sheet by looping in two points from the medium distance. The locals were holding the visitors from scoring and the game ran along until near the close with Indiana in the lead by one lonesome point, when Ambrose Taylor put over one of his justly famous longshots for the additional two points necessary to put the game on ice, and then Bedlam broke loose, Jacksonville High had nothing on the deaf pupils for noise, and a great many who were beyond the "pupils" age, contributed their share of the racket.

One of the best features of the evening was the music furnished by Major Fancher's deaf band, which, by the way, has only been organized about one month, but the quality of music furnished would lead a listener to believe that they had been organized much longer.

Judge C. H. Jenkins, director of public welfare of the state was present with Mrs. Jenkins to enjoy the game and they will stay over for the athletic banquet this evening and will spend the weekend with Col. and Mrs. O. C. Smith.

The score follows:
Illinois (12) F.G. F.T. Tls.
Dillard, f. 1 0 0

FRESHMEN CHAMPIONS AT ILLINOIS COLLEGE

In Final Game Sophomores Are Defeated by Score of 21 to 14—Seniors Lost All Games

The annual interclass basketball game came to a close at Illinois college yesterday afternoon on the Freshman team won the championship by defeating the Sophomores 21 to 14. The championship depended upon the result of this game and this fact made the contest a fast and furious one.

Phelan was the chief scorer for the Freshman with six field goals. Bradish came thru with two and Jones did likewise. The Sophomores were somewhat handicapped by the absence of Park, regular guard, who twisted his ankle in the game against the Juniors last Wednesday and was unable to play yesterday. Hobukorn shone with three field goals and Shafer, VanDevanter, and McGee each contributed one field goal. The scores:
Freshmen F.G. F.T. Tls.
S. Woods, f. 1 0 2
Phelan, f. 1 0 2
Bradish, f. 2 0 0
Jones, f. 0 0 0

CHICAGO BOWLER SETS NEW WORLD RECORD

CHICAGO, March 21.—A new world's record was made here today in the American Bowling Congress tournament by Art Ludvigson of Chicago, who he counted 729, with games of 247, 237, and 245, which was seven pins higher than Frank Kair's mark of 722 established earlier in the meet. Only one score in the doubles event made the high standards.

Fox and Kublick of Milwaukee tied for last position with an account of 1276 pins. Strum and Schupp, local combination hit 1268 for second high, while Hoyer and Peterson of Grand Rapids tallied 1251 for the third high score of the day.

Several others besides Ludvigson also rolled high scores in the individual event. Bert Leson of St. Louis City had games of 234, 212 and 244 for 690, while Heim of Milwaukee hit 675 with counts of 246, 210 and 219.

Billy Evans SAYS

Outfielder Manusch of the Detroit Tigers was hit by a pitched ball 17 times during the 1923 campaign.

There doesn't appear to be anything unusual about that statement. Yet from the viewpoint of the umpires in the American League it has considerable meaning.

Once upon a time getting hit by a pitched ball was a favor. That system is no longer popular. The athletes much prefer to hit the ball than be hit.

Getting out of the way of a badly pitched ball is quite an art. Some players do it gracefully, others awkwardly. The point is to convince the umpire that you are really trying to get out of the way.

In soft footwork plays a big part in the success of the player. Getting distance and accuracy depends as much on the feet as the eyes and arms.

The flat-footed boxer is at a great disadvantage when pitted against the shifty athlete.

Footwork plays an equally important part in the work of the batsman in baseball. It is as essential in keeping from being hit as in hitting the ball.

Certain batters by a mere movement of head or body avoid the ball. Others drop to the ground in a heap. Some step forward or backward to get away.

Such methods to avoid being hit are apparent and make it an easy matter for the umpire to reach a decision. It is the stationary batsman who causes all the trouble for the judges of play.

Kid Elberfeld, famous big leaguer in his day, was such a batsman. The Kid feared no pitcher, hugged the plate closely with his body extending well over it.

Elberfeld took such a position on every pitcher and retained it regardless of the style ball pitched. If a ball was thrown directly at Elberfeld it was almost a certainty that he would be hit.

The Kid's feet were as if frozen to the ground, and he would move his body over so slightly.

Manusch of the Detroit club is a somewhat similar batsman, except that he is a left hander. The promising Detroit recruit stands fairly close to the plate and assumes a crouch position.

The rules state that a batsman is entitled to first base if hit by a pitched ball unless, in the opinion of the umpire, he plainly makes no effort to get out of the way of the pitched ball.

The umpires were constantly in hot water with Elberfeld. Often he refused to give him his base, it being apparent to everybody in the park that he made no effort to avoid the pitch, yet Elberfeld was sure was perfectly truthful in his argument that he did not purposely try to get hit.

Manusch on a fast ball pitched inside, seems powerless to get out of the way. He is a great batsman and naturally would much prefer taking a crack at the ball.

Often I cautioned him last year, when a pitch that was perhaps only an inch away from the plate would almost graze his shirt, only to have him assure me that he had no intention of being hit.

Possibly Tyrus Cobb, master batsman, will teach him the art of getting out of the way. On such balls Cobb shifts back a rifle and pulls them down the first base line.

The umpires hope Cobb so perfects Manusch's one fault at the plate, as it will make things much easier for them.

Athens and Elgin to Decide Championship

URBANA, Ill., March 21.—Athens and Elgin high schools will play here tomorrow night for the state prep basketball title as a result of their victories over West Frankfort and Canton, respectively, in the semi-finals tonight.

It will be a battle of speed against weight. Elgin has a heavy team but failed to display any great amount of speed in its game with Canton, in which the light Canton team came close to tying the score in a last minute rally.

Athens, while its team may have to contend some weight to Elgin, displayed a faster floor game and a much better eye for the basket in beating West Frankfort.

John Zelenas, captain of the Athens team, and Perkins, his mate at forward, are the men whom Elgin's star guards, Captain Semeny and Solyom, must stop.

Elgin displayed ability to shoot both quickly and accurately while their floor work took them clear of the opposing guards time after time.

Otto Vogel, former three sportman at Illinois and at present with the Chicago Cubs, coached the Elgin outfit until he departed for training quarters.

Elgin Eliminates Canton
URBANA, Ill., March 21.—Elgin High school won the opening game of the state high school basketball tournament here tonight from Canton, 16 to 14, after a rally by Canton which came within a single point of tying the score in the last minute of play.

Most of the credit for the Elgin victory goes to its guards—Captain Semeny and Solyom—who were the driving force in the Elgin floor game.

During the first half Canton slipped thru the Elgin defense repeatedly but was unable to connect with the basket. Both teams missed numerous short shots. In the last two minutes Canton repeatedly got possession of the ball only to lose it on long shots which failed to score.

NORTHWESTERN LOWERS TWO SWIM RECORDS

CHICAGO, March 21.—The Northwestern University relay swimming team lowered two national inter-collegiate records in the 400 and 500 yard relays today in exhibitions before the university's national high schoolerscholastic track and swimming meet.

The new records are 3:15.3 for the 400 yards and 4:54.4 for the 500 yards. Both old records were made by Yale in 1922, time for the 400 being 3:47.6 and 4:46.2 for the 500 yards.

The Atlantic City high school relay team lowered the national high school record for the 150 yard relay in the qualifying round of the inter-scholastic meet today, beating the new record to 1:24.2. The debut team established the former record of 1:24 here in 1921.

In another exhibition tomorrow the Northwestern relay team will attempt to lower the world record for the half mile relay, now held by the Illinois A. C. relay team.

I. C. TRACK MEET DATE ANNOUNCED

Cross Country Race to Be Feature of Annual Interclass Meet at Illinois College Last Week in March

The annual interclass track meet of Illinois college, with the cross country race, as the feature of the meet, is announced for the last week in March, with March 21 or April 1 as the possible dates for the running of the race, which will follow the regulation two-mile course. The awards that will be made to the winners of the race, medals in gold, silver and bronze, heading the college seal, are on exhibit at the college together with pictures of the start and finish of the 1923 cross-country race. The remainder of the meet will take place indoors, when the usual events will be contested.

The Illinois college band is scheduled for a series of concerts, playing at Carle Hall on March 27, in White Hall March 28, and appearing in a concert before the public of Jacksonville, at the High school auditorium on Tuesday night, April 1. The band, under the direction of J. Bart Johnson, has been heard several times on informal occasions and at basketball games, and its excellent quality of music is familiar to the public.

Coach Roekne, famous coach of the Notre Dame university, will speak at the college this morning at 9:45 o'clock.

DR. GREEN EXPLAINS
ORIGIN OF RED CROSS

Gives Very Interesting History of Red Cross at Forum Meeting of Chamber of Commerce.

In his third address of the day before yesterday, Dr. Thomas Green, at the Forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night explained in a very clear and concise manner the origin of the American Red Cross. Dr. Green was introduced by Henry J. Rodgers, chairman of the Morgan County chapter of the Red Cross. He has been associated with the National Headquarters of the Red Cross since the year 1917.

The speaker in the beginning remarked that American people are prone to forget how much they owe to the men who risked their lives and health during the World War. He stated that there are nearly 13,000 men who were cared for at this time, men who did all they could to bear the burden of obedience to their nation's call and that it was the people's most solemn obligation to render service to them.

In explaining the origin of the Red Cross, Dr. Green said that previous to the middle of the 19th century no care had been made for the sufferer of the wars. The armies had surgeons, but no nurses, except men detailed from the ranks for that service and following the battles the wounded were gathered up from the fields and sent to barracks with no attempt at first aid. In the barracks their beds were made of straw scattered upon the ground. The speaker stated that these were the conditions that existed during the Crimean War when Florence Nightingale and fourteen other English women went to the battlefields to care for the wounded and sick. Although this work by these English ladies was the first attempt at first aid work, Dr. Green stated that the Red Cross was originated in the United States.

First Aid to the Wounded. Several attempts to organize for first aid for the wounded on the battle field, by European countries met with failure until at a time during the Civil War the United States had a representative at a meeting at Geneva, Switzerland, who explained to members of the conference the wonderful work being accomplished on the battlefields of the Civil war to alleviate the horrors of war. The speaker gave Gen. P. G. Beauregard, commander of the Confederate Army the credit for the first steps towards Red Cross work due to the fact that Gen. Beauregard issued a command that all surgeons and army physicians taken prisoner should be returned to the hospitals of the Confederacy. He stated that Gen. E. S. Bragg of the Union forces gave the same command in regard to the releasing of Confederate captives in the fall of 1864 and that soon an order was issued from the Federal government at Washington, D. C.

Dr. Green stated that following the selection of a flag bearing the Red Cross and the agreement between nations that this emblem should not be violated but once, this occurring in 1918 when a flock of German aeroplanes dropped bombs on hospital barracks in France bearing the cross on their respective roofs and killed 2 patients and 6 nurses.

The meeting was preceded by spirited chanting singing, led by H. A. Williamson, and was presided over by the President of the Forum, J. H. Dial.

SNOW DRIFTS FORCE
TEACHERS TO TRAIN

Those Attending Meeting at Springfield Hindered from Taking Cars and Buses—Snow Pile Put to Test

Difficult snow on the hard road which in places reached a depth of one foot, prevented 125 teachers who went to Springfield for a meeting yesterday, from making the trip by bus and auto. The teachers were compelled to go to the Walden Hotel, which was open to reach this city about 9 o'clock Thursday night. At Alexander about midnight after the driver had shoveled, with then several deep drifts. The teachers spent the remainder of the night at Alexander, making the trip into Jacksonville yesterday morning.

Even the snow plow which they put on the road at Alexander yesterday morning, was delayed for a time in its work. However, the roads were cleared during the day, and those who travel between here and Springfield might meet with little difficulty.

ESSINGTON SPEAKER HAS FEDERAL OFFICE

Mary D. Bailey, U. S. Assistant District Attorney, Spends Busy Day Here for Candidate—J. H. Baskin in Brief Address.

Mary D. Bailey of Chicago, who is one of three women in the United States holding the position of federal district attorney, spoke eight times in her city yesterday in behalf of Senator Thurlow G. Essington's candidacy for the republican gubernatorial nomination. The supporters of Mr. Essington held fifteen precinct meetings throughout the city, and closed the day's activities with a mass meeting at the courthouse, which was attended by a good audience.

The evening meeting was presided over by Mrs. W. S. Jones. She introduced Miss Bailey, who discussed several issues of the campaign. She charged that Governor Small had lined up with the "evil" forces of the state by vetoing the Brundage appropriation, which provided funds for the enforcement of the prohibition laws of Illinois. She stated that three district attorneys and several federal agents are now being paid by the U. S. government to enforce the law, because the state officials lack funds for such work.

The speaker declared that "Spikes" O'Donnell, one of the men alleged to have been paroled from the penitentiary, is now a beer runner in Chicago. The speaker also said she was running a road house outside the city limits of Chicago, where the police cannot reach them. These were the alleged panderers who were pardoned from the penitentiary.

Miss Bailey spoke at length on the hard road issue, one of the bones of contention in the campaign. She declared that the $27,000 to $30,000 a mile which is claimed to be the cost of roads laid during the Small administration, includes only the cost of laying the cement. It does not include the cost of grading, bridges, culverts, and the numerous salaries for state employees engaged by the state highway department.

Senator Essington's record in the legislature also came in for discussion. Quoting from the bulletin of the Voters on-Parity League, Miss Bailey stated that Senator Essington voted for the Child Labor Bill, the Woman's Eight-hour Bill, the woman's fifty-fifty bill, and the woman's equal representation on political precinct committees. He also voted on the repeal of the state prohibition act, he voted for the Brundage appropriation, he provided for funds to enforce the prohibition law. The speaker pleaded for support for Senator Essington, whom she declared to be the friend of the women and children of Illinois. He also said a word in favor of the candidacy of Senator Edith McCormick.

Mrs. Jones next introduced Attorney James H. Danksin who spoke in favor of Mr. Essington's candidacy. He also discussed the senator's record on the road and dry issue, stating that those legislators who have misled the people's hard road bill at times failed to ring in this question when legislative decisions were to be made.

COACH ROCKNE HERE
FOR I. S. D. BANQUET

Will Deliver Main Address and Make Athletic Award—Festive Luncheon at Seven O'Clock.

Everything is all set for the grand annual athletic banquet at the school for the Deaf this evening, starting at 7 o'clock. Coach Knute Rockne, who is to be the main speaker of the evening, will, aside from the delivering of the address, make the athletic awards and the list of guests has been filled for several days, with many friends clamoring for places; but on account of the limited room it was necessary to deny them. The invited guests will include Judge and Mrs. C. H. Jenkins, Miss Mary Humphreys, and Miss Edna Zimmerman of Springfield; Coach and Mrs. William T. Harmon; Coach and Mrs. John Mitchell; Coach and Mrs. John E. Coonan.

Of course, one of the main features of the evening will be the address of Coach Rockne, on account of his world-wide reputation both as a coach and a speaker, but there will be other very interesting talks during the evening by several members of the school. The school has been very fortunate in securing noted speakers for these occasions, the main speaker of last year's banquet being Coach G. Huff of the University of Illinois who had always theretofore refused all invitations to appear as a speaker at school banquets, but who came here out of admiration for the athletes at the deaf school.

Col. O. C. Smith, managing officer at the school, will preside this evening as toastmaster, and will also deliver the welcome address. The response will be made by Judge C. H. Jenkins, director of public welfare of the state. Ralph Miller, '25, will then render: "We are Loyal to You, Illinois," in the sign language. The program will then continue with:

"Our Association"—Rudolph Tillman, '21.
"Athletics at Other Schools"—Major Fancher.
Address and awarding of letters—Coach Knute Rockne, University of Notre Dame.
"The Ideal Athlete of Today"—Coach S. Robey Barnes, Illinois School for the Deaf.
"The Athletic Spirit"—George Putnam.
"Coeds"—Katie Glacherio.
Cheer Leader—Charles Sellers.

GROCERYMAN IS TO QUIT BUSINESS

P. J. Shanahan in Grocery Business Twenty-four Years to Retire—To Visit South

Today marks the end of 24 years in the grocery business by a well known Jacksonville business man, P. J. Shanahan. Mr. Shanahan has disposed of his stock of supplies, and the building at 237 East State street, which he has occupied for practically 17 years, will be used by Fred Ranson beginning April 1. Mr. Ranson will establish a potato chip factory and peanut and popcorn market. Mr. Shanahan's business on South Main street, was disposed of somewhat, and is now being conducted by H. E. Wheeler.

Mr. Shanahan began his career in the grocery line with John Devlin, with their store located on North Main street in the year 1900. In 1904 he began business for himself in the Routt building on East State street, where he dispensed food supplies for a period of four years. He then moved to his present location where he has been in business since.

He was for a time associated in business with M. D. Shanahan, this partnership being dissolved about eight years ago, a summing up his business activities. Mr. Shanahan states that much credit for his success is due to the present inclination weather rough remarks from Mr. Shanahan that while some people complained he remembers when the streets of Jacksonville were so muddy that he was compelled to take his grocery deliveries in baskets.

While Mr. Shanahan has been busily engaged at his occupation or many years he has found time to make two visits to foreign countries. He and Mrs. Shanahan are planning to leave in a few days for a visit in southern states.

ROTARY HEARD NEW
RED CROSS FACTS

Dr. Green Made Address at Friday Luncheon—Club Prepares for District Conference at Springfield.

Some further plans for representation at the district convention in Springfield April 1 and 2 were made by Rotarians at their regular weekly luncheon Friday noon at the Pacific Hotel. Rev. M. L. Pontius, who was the presiding officer, announced the following delegates and alternates to the convention: Delegates, H. M. Andre, Merle Cain and Charles Hopper; alternates, W. W. Gillham, Cass Hamm, James Guyotte.

Roy Jefferson, secretary of the Springfield Rotary club was present and gave a brief outline of the coming convention. In tribute to the memory of Ed Spink, a deceased member, the club members stood at prayer was offered by Rev. W. H. Marshall. A committee to draft resolutions with reference to the death of Mr. Spink was appointed, including J. J. Reeve, F. J. Heint and J. G. Adams.

H. J. Rodgers, chairman of the Morgan County Chapter of the Red Cross, then introduced as the speaker of the day, Dr. Thomas Green, who has for a number of years been engaged in national and international Red Cross work. Dr. Green's Red Cross work in Europe began shortly after the beginning of the world war, and the fact that he is still in the work gives proof of the success with which he has handled it. He was a delegate to the Geneva conference in 1920, at which time the league of Red Cross organizations came into being.

Dr. Green declared that the need for Red Cross by no means ceased at the end of the war, notwithstanding the belief of some people to the contrary. He said that the Red Cross could not cease its work even if it so desired, and that it should not do so because of the fact that there continue to be calls upon it for relief from time to time because of various disasters.

The speaker referred to some of the latest post-war activities of the Red Cross, including soldiers' relief, and also referred to the $11,600,000 which was America's contribution to Japan at the time of her great disaster. This magnificent sum was forthcoming in response to President Coolidge's appeal for $5,000,000.

Dr. Green, who speaks with unusual fluency and eloquence, emphasized the fact to show that the soldiers relief work is one of the most important in which the people of the U. S. could engage, and that this work constitutes a debt the nation must pay.

Japan's S. J. Friend. He said that he had been in Japan and was familiar with the Japanese, that it is unthinkable of this comparatively small island, much of it not arable, and housing 65,000,000 people, could hope to successfully make war on this great nation, with its one hundred and ten and more million people.

But he said, even if this were possible, that the fine spirit of generosity shown by the American people in their contribution to Japan in the time of disaster had disabused the Oriental mind of any hostile feelings. He said the beneficence was more of a boast protection than could be acquired thru the expenditure of billions of dollars in war vessels and coast defenses.

Rev. M. L. Pontius told of a recent visit to Dr. Dollard, president of the club, in Wesley hospital and was glad to report his continued improvement. The chairman appointed Walter H. DeShara to write this week's club letter to Dr. Dollard.

Attendance blanks were distributed relative to the district convention by Carl Gordon, and the interest of the members in the coming meeting was increased by the statement of Mr. Jefferson, who outlined fully the convention program and indicated that all the ladies who attended will find plenty of social features to interest them.

Among the guests of the day were O. M. Pittenger, Indianapolis, Ind.; Alfred Fehring, St. Louis, Mo.; Wallace Whitney and John Mauch, Roy Jefferson, Springfield; Henry J. Rodgers, C. R. Sheffield, J. J. Kelly, P. V. Coover, Jacksonville.

MRS. ELIZABETH KOCH
IS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Elizabeth Koch Answers Final Summons at Hospital in East St. Louis—Was Teacher in Local High School for Many Years.

News was received here yesterday of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Koch, at a hospital in East St. Louis, where she had been a patient for a number of weeks. Mrs. Koch underwent recently an operation for the removal of one of her legs, and the shock of the operation was such that she failed to rally.

Mrs. Koch was born Dec. 25, 1860, in Jacksonville and spent most of her life in this city. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Habermas, well known among the former residents of this city. At the age of 15 years she went to Europe with her twin sister, Freda, and spent eight years there in study. A number of years ago Mrs. Koch removed to Collinsville, which has since been her home.

The deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary Steer, her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Monroe of Collinsville, and four grandsons, John, James, Thomas and Carl Monroe, all of Collinsville. One sister died five or six years ago, and her parents have been deceased a number of years.

For a great many years Mrs. Koch was teacher of German in the local high school, and was known and beloved by a large number of Morgan county residents. The news of her death, while not unexpected, will bring sadness to many hearts.

The funeral is to be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in Collinsville, and burial will be made there. Mrs. Steer is seriously ill at her home on South West street in this city and will be unable to attend the funeral.

"DAD" SEARS ILL
Many Morgan county people will regret to know that Rev. Henry W. Sears, more familiarly known as "Dad" Sears on the lyceum and chautauqua platform, is now seriously ill at St. John's hospital in Springfield. After spending a great many years in lecture work Rev. Mr. Sears became a resident of a farm near Franklin and only recently became pastor of the Presbyterian church at Auburn.
